energy
BLANKET

helping the body.....rest, recuperate, rejuvenate

The Energy Blanket is designed to help you quickly recover, regain and balance your energies in a relaxed and harmonious way.

How does it work?

Based on original work by Wilhelm Reich, the Energy Blanket was developed to help to energetically induce the body and mind to rest, recover and rejuvenate. Orgone energy was the term coined by Reich referring to the subtle body bio-energy that is part of our manifold being, which gets depleted or disordered because of internal and external influences. The Energy Blanket works essentially by reflecting both back, and away, energy, helping the body to energetically recover by itself. It is widely used as a stand alone support method, and is often recommended together with ENAR Therapy System treatments.

ENAR BACK PAIN PATIENT THERMAL IMAGES

Please note : that the thermal temperature gradients for the non-treated areas are unchanged to allow normalisation and direct comparison of the effect of ENAR Therapy, before and after.
Author and Copyright: Dr Janelle Wheat - Riverina Herbal Medicine.
